

Educate yourself – plan and prepare before you go

Know where you're permitted to ride. Make sure you have a current map. When you trespass on private property or in closed areas your actions speak for all OHV riders. If you're not sure about where you are permitted to be, call ahead before going.

Allow for future use of the outdoors – leave it better than you found it

Clean up after yourself. Trash is an eyesore – even food scraps take a long time to break down and may attract pests. When you leave the land in better condition than you find it, everybody wins.

Your actions speak for all OHV riders. Leave a good impression with everyone you meet on the trail. Common courtesy and knowledge of trail ethics will go a long way towards preserving your privilege to ride on public lands. How you treat the land when riding will also be judged by land managers. We all have a responsibility to do our part to minimize our impact on public lands.

RECREATIONAL AND MOTOR VEHICLE USE IN DESERT AREAS

MESA POLICE

TONTO NATIONAL FOREST
MESA RANGER DISTRICT

ARIZONA TRAIL RIDERS

The Mesa Police Department and Mesa Ranger District of the Tonto National Forest welcome motorized recreation enthusiasts on public lands. We have developed this brochure in an effort to better manage motorized recreation and provide rider education so that you can continue to enjoy your riding areas.

Background

Since 2002 numerous citizen complaints and calls for police service have resulted from the high volume of recreational and motor vehicles that are being driven in the desert.

The City of Mesa has experienced a substantial increase in calls for police service relating to the use of recreational vehicles. The complaints received from citizens are:

- Excessive noise from recreational and motor vehicles being used in the desert
- Health problems caused by excessive dust
- Trespassing on state and private land and desert areas
- Dumping of garbage on desert land (trash, landscape and construction debris, discarded appliances, etc.)
- Desert parties involving underage consumption of alcohol and drugs.
- Injuries/accidents with OHVs

There are no known areas where ATVs / OHVs (all-terrain vehicles and off-highway vehicles) may be operated in the City of Mesa. But there are OHV areas identified on the Tonto National Forest.

Purpose

It is the goal of the Mesa Police Department to reduce the problems encountered by our citizens, reduce the calls for service and help the public find areas on the national forest open to OHV use. Enforcement in the City of Mesa will be elevated due to the increase in the complaints received. Motorized travel on public lands is a privilege, not a right so, operate your OHV in designated areas only.

Travel and recreate with minimum impact

Once resource damage occurs it is expensive to repair. Rehabilitation often includes closing areas to the public so the vegetation can recover. Common reasons for closing areas to motorized travel are: failing to protect Arizona's beautiful landscapes or disturbing local landowners or other recreationists with unnecessary noise and dust. In order to keep designated trails and areas on public land open for motorized use, it is essential that OHV enthusiasts minimize their impact on the land. Developing a sound land ethic will keep portions of our public lands open to motorized vehicles, and help protect our natural resources for everyone to enjoy.

Respect the environment and the rights of others

OHV enthusiasts share the outdoors with numerous other recreationists such as hikers, equestrian and mountain bike riders. Each user group has a different perspective about public lands and their recreational interests. Common courtesy and knowledge of trail ethics is essential for all to be able to enjoy their outdoor adventure. Maintaining trail opportunities includes cooperating with private landowners, abiding by travel restrictions and showing courtesy to other people encountered on the trail and living near the trail. Respecting other users and protecting the land will assure everyone can enjoy their adventures on our public lands. Please minimize sound and dust around homes and other users.
